Team,

Atlantic Richfield is hosting a technical working meeting to review the methodology for calculating reference threshold values (RTVs), the rationale for using the upper simultaneous limit (USL) to calculate RTVs, and the calculation of exposure point concentrations (EPCs). We estimate about two hours will be required to cover each topic; thus, this will be a full day meeting. We are preparing presentation materials designed to guide the discussion and encourage interactive participation.

The meeting will be held at Amec Foster Wheeler's office in Rancho Cordova, CA:
